

ICFAI University celebrates Teacher's Day

SE Report

GANGTOK, September 5:

The ICFAI University, Sikkim celebrated Teacher's Day with a cultural extravaganza organised by the students, aiming to appreciate the unwavering commitment of the teachers in fulfilling the mission and vision of the university.

A programme was organised to express gratitude towards the teaching faculty for their significant contributions to the lives of the students, informs a press release.

The celebration was graced by SLA Speaker Arun Upreti as the chief guest, and Brahma Kumari Sonam was the guest of honour.

The programme commenced with an ecstatic invocation song performed by the students.

SLA Speaker Arun Upreti expressed that even if the whole earth turned into paper, large trees into pens, and all the water in the seven oceans into writing ink, it would not suffice to define the glory of a Guru.

Brahma Kumari Sonam congratulated the teachers for inspiring and nurturing the students to march in the right direction. She appreciated their relentless efforts in elevating ICFAI University to great heights. She spoke about the importance of teachers in our lives, comparing them to our physical and extra-terrestrial teachers. She emphasised the invaluable teachings and guidance received from both earthly and spiritual teachers.

The programme also recognised outstanding teachers in the State service who were honoured with the NJ Yassawy Global Impact Award for their remarkable contributions to teaching and society.

A lifetime achievement award was presented to Brahma Kumari Sonam for her impactful work with humanity, while the SLA Speaker was honoured with the Best Professional Excellence Award as a token of appreciation.

ICFAI vice chancellor Dr. Jagannath Patnaik spoke about the integral role of teachers in human life. He emphasised their crucial function in nurturing and shaping the future generation.

Teachers are acknowledged for their dedication, wisdom, and compassion, and their impact extends beyond the classroom. He added that they are not only professionals but also friends who guide and prepare students for the challenges of the real world.

Teachers selflessly dedicate themselves to the happiness, success, and well-being of their students. They lift students up in times of difficulty and instill resilience to keep moving forward, the release mentions.

CLOSE

Teacher's Day celebrated at ICFAI University

Gangtok, September 05 (SR): The ICFAI University Sikkim celebrated Teacher's Day to express gratitude towards the teaching faculty for their significant contributions to the lives of the students. The event was a cultural extravaganza organized by the students, aiming to appreciate the unwavering commitment of the teachers in fulfilling the mission and vision of the university.

The celebration was graced by Arun Upreti, the Speaker of Legislative Assembly Sikkim, as the Chief Guest, and Brahma Kumari Sonam Didi as the Guest of Honor. The program commenced with an ecstatic invocation song performed by the students. To honor the teachers who had transformed their lives, the students left no stone unturned in entertaining them through various cultural performances.

The students presented a mesmerizing medley of old melodies with new lyrics, reflecting their love and admiration for the teachers. Arun Upreti, the Chief Guest, was captivated by the students' performance and poignantly expressed that even if the whole earth turned into paper, large trees into pens, and all the water in the seven oceans into writing ink, it would not suffice to define the glory of a Guru. Brahma Kumari Sonam Didi congratulated the teachers for inspiring and nurturing the students to march in the right direction. She appreciated their relentless efforts in elevating ICFAI University to great heights. She spoke about the importance of teachers in our lives, comparing them to our physical and extra-terrestrial teachers. She emphasized the invaluable teachings and guidance received from both earthly and spiritual teachers.

The program also recognized outstanding teachers in the state service, who were honored with the NJ Yassawy Global Impact Award for their remarkable contributions to teaching and society. Additionally, a lifetime achievement award was presented to Brahma Kumari Sonam Didi for her impactful work with humanity, while Speaker Arun Upreti was awarded the Best Professional Excellence Award as a token of appreciation.

The Vice-Chancellor, Dr. Jagannath Patnaik, spoke about the integral role of teachers in human life. He emphasized their crucial function in nurturing and shaping the future generation. Teachers are acknowledged for their dedication, wisdom, and compassion, and their impact extends beyond the classroom. They are not only professionals but also friends who guide and prepare students for the challenges of the real world. Teachers selflessly dedicate themselves to the happiness, success, and well-being of their students. They lift students up in times of difficulty and instill resilience to keep moving forward.

Teachers Day at ICFAI-Sikkim

SUMMIT REPORT

GANGTOK, 05 SEPT:

ICFAI University, Sikkim, celebrated Teacher's Day today with a cultural extravaganza organized by the students and with Speaker Arun Upreti as chief guest, and Brahma Kumari Sonam Didi as guest of honor, a press release informs.

A highlight of the day was the felicitation of 65 teachers from all over the State with the NJ Yassawy Global Impact Teachers' Award, conferred in association with International Association of Educators for World Peace.

Additionally, a lifetime achievement award was presented to Brahma Kumari Sonam Didi for her impactful work for humanity, while the Speaker Arun Upreti was awarded the Best Professional Excellence Award as a token of appreciation, the release adds.